Formerly CADE—Helping Kids Make Smart Decisions

■ Who/what is CADE Kids?

CADE kids is a 22 year old organization that helps kids, grades K-9, make good decisions by teaching them how to control their impulses and avoid conflict, violence and drugs. Currently, we are in 36 schools helping over 8900 kids!

■ How does CADE Kids work?

Through personal attention from our Prevention Specialists in a caring atmosphere, CADE kids provides young children with the skills they need to move successfully through school and life.

The lessons CADE kids teach our kids really “stick” and we’ve seen how a lesson taught today stays with one of our kids all week.

CADE kids Prevention Specialists spend 1-4 days per week onsite at schools using proven curricula that includes basic skills instruction and personal behavioral instruction.

CADE kids Prevention Specialists are trained individuals who are from the same neighborhoods as the kids they help. There is great power in the kids seeing themselves in the Specialists.

■ What are the results of CADE Kids' Work?

In recent evaluations, CADE kids school administrators have given high marks for the overall impact of the program on school safety and climate.

Due to CADE kids work, school evaluations have shown significant improvement in student behavior from angry outbursts and bullying to violence and attendance.

The results of CADE kids work are measurable. 98% of CADE kids students are promoted to the next grade. For FY 2008-2009, an overwhelming 76% of teachers and school officials rated CADE kids performance as excellent.

■ Why is CADE Kids important?

In helping children see their own potential for becoming good people and contributing members of their communities, CADE Kids programs have a subsequent positive effect on the community.

CADE kids shows kids that what often comes with making good decisions is an increased confidence and overall happiness with one-self. Good choices today lead to more good choices in the future.

The goal of CADE kids is to work closely with students to ensure they steer clear of self-destructive behaviors such as addiction and violence.
